The Vinton Becord. PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, BY W. E. & A. W. BRATTON At Bratton's Building, East of the Court-House.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One year, Eight months, Four months, Payment in advance in all cases.

Professional.

A E. CONSTBLE, B. A. CONSTRLE. McArthur, O. Constable and Constable, ATTORNEYS AT LAW

McArthur, - - Ohio,
Will attend promptly to all business intrusted to their care, in Vinton and Athena counties, or any of the courts of the 7th Indicial dist., and in the Circuit courts of the U.S. for the Southern district of Ohio. Claims against the Government, pensions, bourty and back pay collected. jan4tf

BRATTON & MAYO, ATTORNEYS AT LAW, McArthur, Vinton County, Ohio, W I.L attend to all legal business intrusted to their care in Vinton, Ather s, Jack and Ross, Hocking, and adjoining counties. Particular attention given to the collection of soldiers elaims for pondous, bounties, arrears of pay sto, against the U S or Ohio, including Mor

Watches.

Musical Instruments, MeARTHUR, - - Ohio.

Millinery.

NEW MILLINERY

Fancy Goods, Toys &c.

Mrs. Maggie J. Dodge, RESPECTFULLY announces to the citizens of McArthur and vicinity that she has just opened, as her residence

NORTH STREET, M'ARTHUR, O., A large and well selected stock of BONNETS, HATS, CAPS, FRENCH and AMERICAN ELOWERS, BONTAGS. NUBIES, TOYS FOR THE HOLIDAYS. of all kinds, all of which will be sold cheap for each, nov30 6m Mrs M J DODGE

MILLINERY!! Mrs. E. B. Pugh,

ONE door east of the M E Church, is con-tantly receiving new additions to her large BONNETS. RIBBONS. FLOWERS.

PLUMES, RUCHES, Having in her employ a full force of exper-seced traintance, she is well prepared to MAKE OLD BONNETS NEW promptly and neatly. Call and see her stock and he convinced. nov25-5m

Bankers.

Kinney, Bundy & Co., BANKERS

JACKSON. C. H., OHIO.
SOLICIT the accounts of business men and individuals of Jackson, Vinton, and adjoining counties -- dealers in exchange, uncurrent aoney and coin--make collections in all parts of the country, and remit proceeds promptly on the day we get returns. Government seenrities and revenue stamps always on hand and for sals. [37] Interest paid on time deposits. Brocknonness: H L Charman, President; H S Bundy, Vice President; T W Kinney Cashier; Wm Kinney; E. B. Ludwick; A. A. austin; J.D. Clark; W.N. Burke; P.Lodwick. no30m6

Groceries.

Brown, Mackey, and Co., Wholesale Grocers.

No. 22 Paint street, Chillicothe, O. MERCHANTS of McArthur and surrounding country, are respectfully invited to call and examine our stock consisting of every thing in the grocery line, which we will sell as low as the lowest and all goods warranted to be just as represented. Before purchs ing else-where you will do well to call and see us. as we will offer you inducements not to be bessen No 22 Paint street, Chillicothe, O.1 door south of McKell's Queen's ware store, de21m3

Itotels.

CLIFTON HOUSE, Corner Sixth and Elm Streets, Cincinnati Ohio.
THE CHEAPEST HOUSE IN THE CITY

Terms $2,00 per Day.

OMNIBUSES carry all passengers to and from the cars. Passengers can take the street cars at the Little Miami and M & C R R donot, to the corner of Fourth and Walnut sts. only four squares from this house.

Kailroads.

M. & C. R. R., TIME TABLE.

海葡萄霉素 经交货

	L'ROM Decembe	er 3rd 1365,	Trains will	ı
	Pleave Stations	named as follo	W8:	L
		ING EAST.		ł
	Stations.	Mail.	Night Ex.	L
	Cincinnati,	8 25 a m		ı
	Loveland,	9 55 a m	11 05 p m	ŀ
	Chillicothe,	1 15 pm	2 22 a m	B
	Cin Euroace	9 40 p m	3 40 a m	0
	Cin. Furnace, Hamden, McArthur,	2 15 p m		F
ř	Ma Anthon	3 10 P III	4 02 a m	13
	MCAPERUF,	3 28 p m	4 14 a m	1
	Vinton Furnace,	3 40 p m	4 26 a m	0
	Zaleski,	3 52 p m	4 38 a m	P
	Hope Station,	4 07 pm	4 51 a m	ı
	Marrietta,	7 47 pm	8 27 a m	ı
è	- 60	ING WEST,	100.54 (45.676)	l.
	Stations.	Mail.	Night Ez.	13
	Marrietta,	6 35 a m	7 00 pm	ľ
	Hope Station.	10 29 a m	10 48 pm	ľ
	Hope Station, Zaleski,	10 43 a m	11 04 pm
Ó	Vinton Furnace,	10 57 a m	11 18 pm	g
ì	McArthur	11 00 a m	11 10 P III	ľ
	McArthur, Hamden,	11 00 a m	11 30 pm
	Cin. Furnace,	11 22 a m
	Chillicotho	11 46 a m	12 04 a m
	Chillicothe,	1 15 p m	1 27 a m
			4 10

Trains connect at Hamde

1 15 pm 4 46 pm 5 50 pm

Loveland.

M'ARTHUR, VINTON COUNTY, OHIO, FEBRUARY 8, 1866. VOL. 1.

Miscellancous. and her fingers flew like snow-

ONLY A COUNTRY GIRL. "You're mistaken, I would sooner you fond of it?"

lie than marry a mere country

"But, Fred suppose her intelligent, noral, full of natural poetry, tender hearted, graceful, unspoiled by dmiration, a guileless, simple loving creature." >

"Oh," said Fred, "a choice colry beauties are always sweet, and search. o are country cows. No, I tell ou, if she was as lovely as an an- fled air. el, with the best sense in the world, still, if unskilled in music and literature, with no soul above said grayely. hurns and knitting-needles, I would not marry her for a fortune."

eet of the egotist.

visible terpidation, 'Do you think she heard me?' she shows no resentment, she has Biography of some person or other, not even looked up from her book; Mother's Magazine, and King

Yes Helen was an angel as far as out the dimples in her cheeks as ing bread, and churning butter and ment gains many a fair cheek a to twine a finished wreath of wild done.'

ick Lane took the liberty of asking The perplexed as well as desight. Who can she if the young lady would infrom him ed him. where Mr. Irving lived.

eauty looked up.

ful manner. The large house on ity than for brilliancy. high ground, half hidden by trees 'If I should fall into the snare,' toward her. we live. I believe it was an acad- will be worth trying.

He replied with another grace- fessed his love for her.

apon him to-morrow. He will re- she would appear in society.

your service.

and I live, that Mr. Lane, you talk lovely creature in the room. so much about, is in the village. As she entered the great saloon, rst specimen of a city beau, (as of her. plan. Father will not, I know, but sented her to one and another.. if you, sis, will keep quiet and ask Simple,' whispered a magnifi- sorrowful cadence.

ful,' said her father.

'Come, sis, what say you?' 'Why, on that condition, I'll be reason? dancing out of the room.

sweet shade and fragrance. The every look, every word, not in band to be.' canary, overhead, burst forth every strict conformity to etiquette; and Reader, wouldn't you and I like moment in wild snatches of glori- Helen's heart beat high, and tears to be there just now and hear her can churn well.'

shelf and corner, in search of some fancied her time had come. books or paper, but not a page, nor 'Do you suppose she knows anyection of virtue and grace. Coun- a leaf, yellow or rare, repaid his thing? whispered a low voice near

'Oh, yes,' said Helen, with a satis-

'Is that all?'

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Helen Irving, we not find in the Bible? History, ut it was a very pianissimo laugh, poetry, eloquence, romance—the way down in the very corner of her most thrilling pathos-blushing, neart. Hidden by the trunk of a and recollecting herself, she added, ree, she sat reading within a few with a manner as childish as it before had been dignified, as for the In another moment the young other books, let me see, I've got in Miss Somers, looking askance at man came in sight. Fred's face my library-there's the primer, her companions. erimsoned, and he whispered in (counting on her fingers,) second class Reader, Robinson Crusoe, Nursery Tales, Fairy Stories, two No, rejoined the other audibly or three elements of something, heard you, but what an angel she good assortment? Fred smiled.

'Perhaps I don't know as much outward beauty might merit the as those who have went to school econium. She sat half reclining more,' she added as if disappointed on a rustic seat, striving to smooth at the mute rejoinder, but in mak- ful and passing sweet; astonishshe laid her book aside and began keeping house, I am not to be dut-

The young man felt more in pity Leaning on one white arm, the than in love, but his visits did not gnarled white oak tree a back always so result. He began to feel ground, flowers strewed around her, a magnetic attraction and he peeping from her white dress, she mainly attributed it to Helen's sat quite at her ease, apparently beauty; but the truth is her sweetunconscious that two handsome ness and artlessness of character, young gentlemen were so near her, engaging manner and disposition Approaching with a low bow, quite won the city-bred aristocratic seal of faultless elegance. Freder- about everything she said or did. to listen.

With an innocent smile the some homely expression would be from the piano, and the unknown received in good society, some was his wife! 'Mr. Irving, the only one living beautiful sentiment would sud- 'I congratulate you, Fred,' said in the village, is my father,' said dealy drop like a pearl from her the young man at his side, but he she rising in a charming and grace- lips, more remarkable for original- spoke to marble. The color had and thick shrubbery, that's where thought he, I can educate her; it If he was speechless with amaze-school, isn't it?' with the most nat- sion; so at last he fell at Helen's her eyes sparkle as they never did ural simplicity, turning to Fred. feet, figuratively speaking, and con- before; they flashed like diamonds.

'I care not, Helen, only be mine,' 'Tell your father,' said he, 'that I was his inavailable answer to her ment she blended wit and humor. hall do myself the honor to call exclamation of unworthiness, how from their wedding tour, and yet at The room, 'Yes sir, I will tell him for you,' the expiration of their honeymoon, said Helen, tucking her sleeve Fred was more in love than ever. like one enchanted, while his little around her pretty arm, and making At a grand entertainment, given rustic wife quoted books with pera rather formal courtesy. Then by the relatives of the bridegroom, fect abandon, admiring this one catching up her books, and gather- Helen looked more beautiful. Her condemned that. ing the scattered flowers, she hur- husband did not insist that she should depart from simplicity, and, himself in a Latin quotation; Helen Now, tather, mother, aunt and indeed, without jewels or laces, smilingly finished it, and she re- Hon. Allen G. Thurman, for that ofsis,' exclaimed the merry girl bound- with that fresh white robe, simple ceived a look of eloquent thanks. fice. Of course being in a hopeless were at supper, so sure as you moss rose, she was by far the most, fancy and imaginary, fell from her Mr. T., or prevent the election of no questions, I will give you that cent girl, resplendent with diawork-box you have coveted so long.' monds, as she curled her lips and 'what does this mean? I feel like cribed woman as a necessary evil, 'Helen, you are not quite respect- passed by. The observation es- one awakened from a dream.' caped neither Helen nor her hus-'Forgive me, dear father,' and band. She looked at him. He then falling into her husband's fascination, and a painted ill. He less. There, all is right now,' she in that brilliant gathering pitied sooner die than wed. Are you added, kissing him lovingly on the poor Fred, and wondered why he sorry you married me? had martyred himself on the shrine of ignorant rusticity. as still as a mouse; but what's your to love her the more as she clung Been at an academy" she broke to his arm so timidly; his noble in; 'never took a music lesson, 'Ah! that's my own,' said Helen, face expressed the pride he truly never was taught to sing, all very felt, he looked as if he would have true, and yet I am all you see me swept back the scorners with one here to-night, myself my own teach-Helen sat at an open window, motion of his hand, had they ven- er; with labor and diligence, I hope

He will call here to-morrow-the blazing with light, her heart failed

'You knit most admirably. Are when a new comer appeared. She an empty room by themselves, and 'Yes, quite, I like it better than creature, with haughty features .anything else-that is, I mean I Ill concealed scorn lurked in the country girl without any deep laid brilliant eyes whenever she glanced 'And do you read much?' Fred's toward Helen. Once she held the well-bred city gentleman that glance had traveled from the cor- sway over the heart of Fred, and he could marry a charming rustic, ners of his eyes over every table, hearing whom he had married, she if her fingers were more familiar Helen's eyes sparkled, her face ed air. flushed indignantly. She turned 'What books? permit me to ask.' to her husband. He was gone, I read the Eible a good deal,' she speaking at a little distance with a

'Do you play, Mrs. Lane?' she 'All, of course not, and what do asked. There was a mocking tone in her voice.

'A little,' answered Helen, her cheeks blushing. 'And sing?'

'A little,' was the half reply. 'Then do us a favor,' exclaimed

'Come, I, myself, will lead to the instrument.

Hark! whose masterly touch! Instantly was the half spoken word arrested, the cold ear and hanghty head were turned in listening suryou are safe; she could not have William III. There, isn't that a prise. Such melody! Such correct intonation! Such breadth, depth, and vigorous touch! Who is she? She plays like an angel!

And again hark! A voice rolls a flood of melody; clear, powerdeep scarlet. There is a deep silence unbroken, and silver strain's float up:

"Aye! care I not for cold neglect, Though tears unbidden start, And scorn is but a bitter word, Save when it breaks the heart. If one be true, If one be true, The world may eareless be.

Since I may only keep thy love, And tell my grief to thee." 'Glorious voice!' said Fred to his ipon which his mirror had set the Fred Lane. There was a freshness friend, who with the rest had paused

> The words were suddenly ar-Often as he was wondering how rested on his lips. She turned > > left his cheek. He walked slowly

ment so was not she. A rich bloom emy once, that's a sort of a select It was useless to combat his pas- mantled her cheek, triumph made A crowd gathered to compliment her. In a graceful acknowledg-

'How well she talks; who would have thought it! He has found a member me, Frederick Lane, at They were married, had returned treasure,' was whispered all around

Meanwhile, Frederick Lane stood

A sedate looking student lost leautiful lips, as if they had re- John Sherman, but the Democratic less in dickey, important and self- ashamed of me ? I cannot bear the to be sure of his senses when he washoncred by the unanimous vote possibly be. Promise me, all of all congentional notions, then I sion of loveliness, over the harp, office for which none is better qualyou, that you'll not lisp one word have a husband to be honored, and her full arm leaning on its golden lifted then Mr. Thurman. Mr. Thurin his presence, because I have a How she watched him as he pre- now plaintive with some tender an honest Democrat. - Marion memory, rise and fall in sweet and Mirror.

'Tell me,' said he, when alone

'Sorry, my glorious wife. But Helen, you could not deceive. Did But he! O, Joy! he seemed only I not understand you had never-Notice—Any person obtaining ten subscribers, and sending us the money, preous music. Helen was at work on long blue stockings, nearly finished,

Notice—Any person obtaining ten subous music. Helen's heart beat high, and tears to be there just now and hear her story, the laughing between smiles,
how noble a heart she had won.

The King of Italy has decorated story, the laughing between smiles,
how noble a heart she had won.

Still we cast for Douglas nearly to story, the laughing between smiles,
how noble a heart she had won. long blue stockings, nearly finished, how noble a heart she had won. and pretty face and dimples, as she Patti.

The young bride stood near her tells how she banished the piano, husband talking in a low tone, books, harp, port-folio, music, all in was a beautiful, slightly formed locked the door, leaving them to seclusion and dust, while the young scheme, succeeded in convincing with the churn and knitting needles than the piano and books?

NO. 6.

resisted many persuasions to marry, which his friends were constantly making, until he had reached a tolerably advanced age and he himself began to feel the need of. or, at least, to have new ideas of the comfort of being nursed by woman's gentle care. Shortly after entering one of his circuits, a maiden lady, also of rine years, was strongly recommended to him, and his friends again urged that he had better get married, representing that the old lady named would probably not refuse him, notwithstanding his reputed excentrici-

"Do you think tho?" responded the dominie, for he very perceptiblydisped; "then I'll go and thee

He was a man of his word. He rang at the door-bell and was answered by the servant-maid. "Ith Mith P- within?" briskly but calmly asked the lover.

wish to threak to her a moment."

Miss P- appeared, and repeated the invitation to walk in.

"Why, really, Mr. Sm-" "There, don't anthwer now. I'll call thith day week for your reply.

Good day!" On that day week he-reappeared

"Walk in, Mr. Smith."

anther me-yeth or no." "Well, Mr. Smith, it is a very serious matter. I should not like to get out of the way of Providence—"

"I perfectly understand you. Min.

"I perfectly understand you. Min.

"I perfectly understand you. Min. "I perfectly understand you, Miss P. We will be married thith day week. I will call at thith hour .-

Pleath be ready, ma'am." He called on that day week, at that hour. She was ready; they were married, and lived happily.

Hon. Allen G. Thurman.

In the election for United States Senator last Thursday, the Democratic members of the Ohio Legislature cast their vote in a body for Still Frederick walked by her it, and who, with his distinguished

One of the ancient fathers desa natural temptation, a desirable 'Only a country girl,' said Helen, calamity, a domestic peril, a deadly

A girl in a paper mill in Ba found a ring composed of t diamonds, among some rags she was picking.

named Daniel.

Senator Sprague employs 6,000 through which rose-bushes thrust tured one wave too high on the shore I am worthy to be the wife of one cotton manufacturers, but he says their blushing buds, making both a of his pride. He seemed to excuse good and exalted as I find my hus- he "has no particular interest in the business."

ADVERTISING TERMS Cards, per year, ten lines. Notices of Executors, Administra-tors and Guardians. Attachment notices before J. P.

Local notices, per line,

advance

Yearly advertisments will be 860 per column, and at porp rates for less than a column. P

An "Ammesty" from Hon. S. S. Cox

His Speech in Tammany Hall, New York, on the Night of January 8, 1868.

Your invintation gentleman of Tammany Society, has in it the phrase and soul of am-nesty. It bids us forget all victories since that "great victory which closed the war of 1812." The lustre of a united patriotism will be tarnished to-night by no unchari-able memories. I join you in that "unfeign-ed joy with which you hall the advent of a season when we can recur to an event which no achievements in our subsequent Coming to the Point.

A good story is told of a Methodist preacher—and the story is true to the letter—who lived almost forty years ago. He was a bachelor and we could write his real name, but prefer to call him Smith. He had a season when we can recur to an event which no achievements in our subsequent history can ever dim, and which reunited brethren in every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is to elebrate in every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is to elebrate in every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is to elebrate in every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is to elebrate in every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is to elebrate in every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is to elebrate in every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is to elebrate in every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is to elebrate in every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is to elebrate in every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is to elebrate in every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is to elebrate in every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is every portion of our glorious republic can celebrate with equal pride." It is every portion of our glorious republic ca Jackson to the dust. To me this is the chief attraction of this banquet. If the thief Magistrate, wielding the civil authority, can pardon the errors and crimes of his own recusant section; if General Grant can wreath his sword with the garlands of ood will; if the organized Government in all its branches (save the Legislature), can temper justice with mercy, may not the great Democratic heart, whose pulse is here Tammany-and in whose honor I am re-mested to speak-sweeten its festivities with the associations of forgiveness? If, by reuniting in spirit again with that branch of the Democracy which left us in 1800, we meet the reproaches of the revenge-ful a d sullen, we share them along with our element Executive. If he, in civil affilirs, and the sullent was the sullent to the sullent that the fairs, can accept victory without reprisal and raise the fallen for, without piercing him with additional punishment—may we and with additional punishment—may we not, in our party relations, be excused for following so christian an example?

The crime which followed the defect of the Democratic party in 1860 has been punished. In the charred homes, the wasted felds, the sacked towns, the ruined thoroughfares, the rude swath of desolation and misery which had their saddest climax of woo in the bereavement so comfortless and woe in the bereavement so comfortless and the mourning so poignant for the dead, all speak of penalties so heavy that none but a fiend would willingly add to their weight. That these results were a consequence of the desertion of the Democracy by the "Yes, sir. Will you walk in?"

"No, I thank you. Be kind enough to thay to Mith P—— that I wish to threak to her a moment."

"It desertion of the Democracy by the Scuthern portion of the party is now history. That great party whose beginnings were coeval with the Constitution, whose pullosephy is in Jefferson's Inaugural, whose successes, had thirteen out of the Democracy by the Scuthern portion of the party is now history. That great party whose beginnings were coeval with the Constitution, whose ought to the party is now history. Afreen Presidents since the election of Jefferson whose achievements in foreign war, territorial expansion and domestic progress, "No, thank you; I'll thoon explain my business. I am the new Methodist preacher. I am unmarried. My friendth think I'd better marry. They recommend you for my wife. Have you any objections?"

Ethiologial expansion and domestic progress, constitute the advancement of our country; the parry which, through shine and shadow, advanced the starry hag and the civic fuscus at last succumbed, not to an enemy, but to its own internal dissentions. None but itself could be its conqueror! We know the division time. The little ensured in 1848 and although cemented and trellised over in 1850 and 1856, as if by a guake of nature in 1850. and 1850, as if by a quake of nature in 1862, and 1850, as if by a quake of nature in 1860, became an unbridgable chasm. The agitations of the slavery question, beginning in 1820, with the Missouri contest, creeping into Congress in 1835, in the form of petition, at last touched territorial government. But during these years the Democracy were at the door of Miss P—'s residence. The door was opened by the lady herself.

unaffected. The Presidency. in 1852 and 1856, was won on the ground of non-intervention. Pro-slavery and anti-slavery vention. Pro-slavery and anti-slavery the lady herself. "Walk in, Mr. Smith."
"Can't indeed, ma'am.
"ther me—yeth or no."
"The local authority. Gradually the extremes of the North produced their counterpart South, and while the nation, in

> I recall these things because it is necessary to have a plain talk with Southern men. Forgetting the usage and law of Democratic conventions, they deserted the flag under which they had ever found honorable protection. They left us alone to battle with the common foe. They left us and retired sullenly to the rear, at a time when the well appointed and fiercely inspired Republicans were thundering on our flanks!

The Convention met at Charleston. There was a division nearly sectional among the delegates. While many eloquent champidelegates. While many eloquent champi-ons of Democratic unity. North and South, were ready to concede much for the imperilled country, the Convention was distracted. The report of the committee, affirms.s, exclaimed the merry girl boundwith that fresh white robe, simple ceived a look of eloquent thanks.

ing into the room where the family sash of blue, and ornaments of fair Bon mots, rapartee, language rich, were at supper, so sure as you moss rose, she was by far the most fancy and imaginary fell from her.

Note the family supper, so sure as you moss rose, she was by far the most fancy and imaginary fell from her. the territories—was passed by a vote 175 to 133. By Democratic usage this should have leautiful lips, as if they had received a touch from some fairy.

John Sherman, but the Democratic members bestowed their vote on a this was the law of our party. But Alaband.

man eminently worthy to receive bama, followed by Mississippi, Florida, Texas and part of Louisana. South Carolina, course he will,) all sentiment, re- 'Shall I love him as dearly,' she side like one in a dream, pressed abilities and noble patriotism, has withdrew. They withdrew because the inement, faultless in kids and spot- asked herself, if I find he is his hand over his bewildered eyes honored the party not less then he Convention held that slavery might be desassured as one of that kind can thought; but should be overcome saw her bending, a breathing visof the Democratic delegation for an Under the brilliant lead of Mr. Yancy a seceding Convention met. Then began the about music, reading and writing then he shall be proud of his wife.' strings, heard again that rich voice, man is one of nature's nobleman, for this nation when that severance took in his presence because I have a likewished him as he are, now plaintive with some tender an honest Democrat. — Marion place. I need not dwell on the bleer last of that hour. I only refer to it to show that a power of cohesion was in that Democracy; and what consequences followed its disruption. Religious societies had parted; tract societies had been severed; domestic, liter-ary, social, political and religious circles were all disorganized; the last and link—the Democracy, remained. Ruthless hands which spared not the Union after-wards, spared not the Democracy then! her arms were around his neck. Talsmiled a lover's smile, and only arms, she exclaimed, forgive me, I omitted the better definition—a Assassins stabled that party, and the nation tottered! I remember too well the tannets to tottered! I remember too well the tannets in and jeers hurled at Northern Democrats in that bitter hour. It was on that hour on the 20th of June, at Baltimore, that General Richardson read the dispatch from Dong-las: "I learn that there is danger that the Democratic party will be broken up by the breaking up of the convention-such an event would expose the country to sectional It is said that there never was strife. Intervention means disunion." He but one man who wasn't spoiled by being lionized. He was a Jew, too late. The wisdom of his friends may well be questioned. The Democracy might have united on James Guthrie, Andrew Johnson or some other statesman; and its union would have been the harbinger of

Do you know the sequel. Notwithstanding Douglas was nominated by the lawful vote and the platform adopted by a majority, a rival candidate divided our party. Still we cast for Douglas nearly twice the

[CONCLUDED ON FOURTH PAGE.]